Queen Elizabeth II Takes Over New Role; Formal Proclamation Is Scheduled Today

Red Armies Prepare For Vital Action

Seoul, Friday (AP)—Red Korean Premier Kim Il Sung yesterday called on Communist armies to "prepare for decisive fighting with the enemy."

The North Korean leader's cryptic order came on one of the twilight war's quietest days. Only light patrol clashes broke the silence of the 155-mile battlefront.

It came also at a time when the truce teams at Panmunjom appeared to be making some progress for the first time in weeks toward an armistice.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense Lovett and Gen. Omar Bradley gave senators a highly secret report on progress of the truce talks. Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services committee said the report was "so sensitive that I'm reluctant to even comment to this extent."

General Kim, in an order of the day commemorating the fourth anniversary today of North Korean armed forces, called for 20-gun salutes by 240 artillery pieces at Pyongyang, Wonsan and Hamhung.

He ordered close cooperation with "brave Chinese volunteers," and urged guerrillas to step up their raids behind Allied lines.

Communist night fighters were out last night but did not attack 10 Superforts that bombed a rail bridge at Sinanju in northwest Korea.

In the key ground action, an Allied raiding party crossed a frozen river on the western front yesterday and attacked two hill positions south of Panmunjom. They later withdrew.

Munsan, Friday (AP)—The U. N. command today told the Communists it was ready to give its answer to sweeping new Red proposals for peace in Korea and the Far East.

An Allied liaison officer carried a message to Panmunjom suggesting a plenary session tomorrow of the full armistice delegations.

The delegations are discussing the final item on the Korean truce agenda—recommendations to the governments concerned.

At the first meeting on this subject Wednesday, the Reds proposed a high level political conference within 90 days after an armistice to discuss withdrawal of foreign troops and peaceful settlement of the Korean and other Far Eastern problems.

The United States was reported agreeable to such a conference but would want to confine the meeting strictly to Korean matters.

The Reds have said they wanted "simultaneous solution" of other Asiatic problems, presumably including Formosa and Red China's bid for a U. N. seat.

Union Seniority Proposals Fought

New York (AP)—Steel companies battling to retain control over their employees' jobs contended yesterday that union seniority proposals would convert workmen into frustrated prey for Communism.

They said the CIO United Steelworkers union would change individuals into mere numbers by making their promotions subject to the date they were hired rather than to their capabilities.

They held that the industry, sometimes termed "cold and impersonal," actually conducted its human relationships on a firm religious footing in recognizing individualism.

The industry replied before a Wage Stabilization board panel to what it regarded as a union attempt to usurp management's control over who should be promoted or demoted, retained or laid off.

If it was hard for Hamm it was at least no easier for the other 299 members who had to get into the school's gymnasium the same way. Grundslow Lodge Members Gather At Kresgeville For Second Annual Dinner

Some 300 Grundslow lodge members grinned, gorged and guffawed at their second annual meeting last night at Polk Township High school in Kresgeville.

Grundslow is Pennsylvania Dutch for "groundhog" and members couldn't even get into the school's gymnasium without imitating this original member of the underground.

The door to the gym was blocked off, and men—it was an all-stag affair—had to crawl through an improvised hole on all fours to get in to the dinner tables.

Beside a luscious dinner—which excluded groundhog either baked, boiled, roasted or toasted—members were provided with entertainment by a number of speakers, an Allentown radio comic team, and a "Pennsylvania Dutch orchestra."

The Monroe County Grundslow lodge is one of six such organizations. The original was formed in Allentown, and Irvin Frantz, of Coplay, its president, was on hand last night to lecture in humorous vein on lodge affairs.

The committee from the Radio-Television Manufacturers association made its forecast on the basis of the Federal Communications commission's plans to lift its three and a half year freeze on station permits in about a month.

The group, reporting findings on a recently completed study, also predicted that expansion of TV broadcasting to cities not now covered will not be delayed by defense production requirements.

Attorney Stricken

Seranton (AP)—Attorney Walter W. Harris, 57, was stricken with a heart attack and died as he walked on a downtown street yesterday. He was a member of one of the law firm, O'Malley, Harris, Harris and Warren.

For the United States and its Allies are well embarked on the program of building up the power considered necessary to stabilize East-West relations. If they are ever to be stabilized, should the Kremlin in the near future show any tendency to adjust to this situation, Kennan will be in a key position to spot the trend and explore the possibilities.

Polish Colonel Blames Russians

Washington (AP)—A Polish colonel testified yesterday he is convinced the Russians killed 10,000 Polish officers in an attempt to wipe out Poland's resistance to Communism.

The 63-year-old colonel, George Grobicki, of Toronto, Can., said he himself was threatened with death five times. And he actually was on a train headed for the Katyn forest, he said, when orders from Moscow switched him and other Polish prisoners of war to another camp.

The testimony was given to a special House subcommittee set up to study who is responsible for the massacre of the Poles in the Katyn forest near Smolensk, Russia.

The Germans blamed the Russians; the Russians said the Germans did it.

Tribute Paid To Late King By Churchill

London (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill paid tribute last night to the late King George VI as a "model and guide to constitutional sovereigns throughout the world today and also to future generations."

Churchill's eulogy was broadcast to the world. The 77-year-old Conservative party leader, who was a close personal friend of the dead monarch, made the special broadcast shortly after Queen Elizabeth II came home to take over the reign.

Churchill indicated the ailing King had a premonition death was near, declaring:

"During these last months the King walked with death as if death were a companion, an acquaintance whom he recognized and did not fear."

Churchill added: "In the end death came as a friend and after a happy day of sunshine and sport, after a 'good night' to those who loved him best, he fell asleep—as every man or woman who strives to fear God and nothing else may hope to do."

"The nearer one stood to him the more these facts were apparent. But the newspapers and photographers of modern times have made vast numbers of his subjects able to watch with emotion the last months of his pilgrimage. We all saw him approach his journey's end."

Churchill recalled that as prime minister he saw the late King more than any other government official during the blitz days of World War Two.

Then he revealed a secret to the modest monarch's subjects:

"On one of the days when Buckingham palace was bombed the King had just returned from Windsor. The opposite side of the courtyard was struck and if the windows out of which he and the Queen were looking had not been by the mercy of God open they would have both been blinded by broken glass instead of being only thrown back by the explosion."

Churchill, whose own courageous stubbornness helped spur Britain and the Allies to victory in the war, went on to say:

"Amid all that was then going on, although I saw the King so often, I never heard of this episode till some time later."

"Their majesties never mentioned it, or thought it of more significance than a soldier in their armies would of a shell bursting near him."

Erie Has Seven Inches Of Snow

(By The Associated Press)

A storm that dumped five to seven inches of snow across parts of northern Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania moved into New England yesterday with diminishing intensity.

The snowfall was light in New England and in the middle Atlantic states area.

Cleveland has five inches of snow, but the fall had stopped before the morning rush hour. Fort Wayne, Ind., and Erie, Pa., had seven inches.

HERE'S AN EXCELLENT study of England's new Queen Elizabeth, who returned to London yesterday from Kenya, Africa, where she interrupted her world tour after receiving word of death of her beloved father, King George VI.

Returns Home To Face First Grim Duty--That Of Approving Funeral Plans For King George

London (AP)—Pale but dry-eyed, Queen Elizabeth II took up in London yesterday the lonely duties of sovereign of a people mourning with her the death of her beloved father.

The 25-year-old Queen, chin up, arrived at London airport under a leaden sky after a 4,000-mile flight from the big four-engine airplane which brought her home.

Prime Minister Churchill bowed deeply in greeting as Britain's new Queen and her royal party stepped from the big four-engine airplane which brought her home.

After speaking briefly to the black-clad welcoming party and to the crew of her plane, the sorrowing Queen was whisked in a motor convoy along police-lined roads to Clarence house, her London residence, and then to Buckingham palace in the heart of London.

There she faced her first grim duty as Queen—to approve plans for the deeply traditional lying-in-state and funeral of her father, King George VI. Friday, Feb. 15. He died unexpectedly in his sleep early Wednesday at his Sandringham estate in Norfolk.

With that tragic stroke, Elizabeth became Britain's first reigning Queen since the golden era of Victoria ended 51 years ago.

The news of her father's death had forced her to cut short a projected five-month state tour of Africa, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

Elizabeth will be publicly proclaimed Queen today from the red-carpeted balcony of Friars hall in historic St. James palace and at three other traditional places in London.

She will meet at the palace this morning with her privy council, a group of advisers, and take an oath to uphold the laws of the kingdom and be a good Queen. That ceremony is to be at 10 a. m. (5 a. m. EST).

When these solemn duties are performed, the Queen will drive the 130 miles to Sandringham to be with her mother, Queen Mother Elizabeth, and her younger sister, Princess Margaret, who are in seclusion with the remains of the King.

By tradition, a year or more usually elapses between the proclamation of a new sovereign and the coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey. By that time, new coins bearing Elizabeth's profile will have been struck. The King's counsel will have taken a new oath as the Queen's counsel and royal servants will be wearing new monograms "E VMMII. 4" —standing for Elizabeth II, Regina.

Immediately on her return to London, Elizabeth assumed full responsibilities of the monarchy. Her actual governing powers are limited almost to the point of non-existence, but her duties—mostly ceremonial and symbolic—are many.

Elizabeth will reign over Britain and the Commonwealth more as a symbol than as a monarch. She will open Parliament by reading a speech written by officers of the government. She has no voice in the government and must not take political sides.

She becomes temporal head of two separate churches—the Church of England, which is Episcopal, and the Church of Scotland, which is Presbyterian. Both are Protestant bodies similar in creed, but governed by some basic differences dating back to the days of the Protestant Reformation.

Paris, Friday (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure's government squeezed through on a vote of confidence in the National Assembly early today. He took over the leadership three weeks ago.

The narrow margin of his success left him in a precarious spot for his next test. It is expected this weekend.

The official count was 292 to 275.

The immediate issue was urgent consideration of Faure's compromise bill on hitting wages to rapidly rising prices. He wants to give the government one month's leeway every time prices rise five per cent before raising the minimum wage by the same amount.

Resorts Consider Program To Attract More Vacationers To Pocono Mountains Region

Efforts to bring the Poconos into stronger competition for vacationers' dollars were discussed last night at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau.

Discussion followed a report on the subject by John Stubblefield, Shawnee inn manager, and chairman of the publicity fund committee.

Stubblefield pointed out that it was necessary for the Poconos to compete with the New England states and Florida, which now are going in heavily for advertising in an attempt to attract substantial vacation income.

Directors amended by-laws of the organization to provide for an executive committee composed of the five officers plus two board members.

Committee members now are President Edward C. Jenkins, Buck Hill Falls; Vice-president John Crandall, Pocono Manor; Vice-president John Shinn, Vacation Valley; Secretary Irene Werry, Sunnybrook; Treasurer Elwood Huffman, Mountain Lake house, and the two newly-elected members, Irvin Shinnen, Onawa lodge, and Stubblefield.

The board decided that all inquiries received from prospective vacationists will be sent to members. In the last nine months of 1951, the organization received close to 20,000 such queries from persons seeking vacation information.

A report was also heard on the hotel show to be held at Pocono Manor April 29-30, in cooperation with the Northeastern Pennsylvania Restaurant association. The show will also be in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Vacation Bureau which will be held April 30.

At the third annual show there will be some 103 display booths. Last year the show was visited by about 500 representatives of camps and restaurants.

Mrs. Elvira Carlton, Glenmere hotel, was appointed chairman of the hostess committee, and Albert Stets, Pocono Manor, as chairman of the hotel show committee.

An agreement between the Vacation Bureau and the Eastern Pocono Resort association relating to operation of the information booth in Delaware Water Gap was ratified by the board.

The nominating committee also was appointed: chairman, Henry Arneberg, Sterling hotel; Shinnen and Gerald P. O'Neill, committeemen.

Preliminary plans for the annual Laurel ball set the place as Shawnee, the month as June. Exact date will be announced later.

$10,000 Monthly Sought By Wife Of Oil Tycoon

Los Angeles (AP)—Mrs. Clearing Lockhart contended yesterday that she needs at least $10,000 a month to live in the manner to which she is accustomed.

Last Friday Mrs. Lockhart, 39, separated from her wealthy Texas oil tycoon husband, Leslie Lockhart, 64. Testifying yesterday at the trial of her separate maintenance she said her husband is worth 50 million dollars and makes $167,000 a month.

Lockhart, the court was told, owns a 29-room mansion in Los Angeles, several oil companies, a 3 million dollar ranch at Hinkley, Calif., two yachts worth $165,000, two airplanes, and five automobiles.

The couple married in San Antonio, May 26, 1945. They have no children. A restraining order also was asked to prevent Lockhart from "inflicting further violence upon her," after she charged Lockhart struck her.

13 Americans, Five Japs Die In B-29 Crash

Tokyo, Friday (AP)—Thirteen American crewmen and possibly five Japanese were killed last night in the explosive crash of a Superfort that leveled 15 houses about 40 miles west of Tokyo.

The Far East Air Forces, reporting the casualties, said the big bomber crashed in a snowstorm shortly after taking off from Yokota Air base.

Part of the plane's bomb load exploded and demolished the houses at a village five miles north of Yokota. Preliminary reports said three and possibly five Japanese were killed.

Tax Scandal Blame Laid To Snyder

Washington (AP)—Senator Williams (R-De) said in an attack on Secretary of the Treasury Snyder yesterday that the Cabinet member must shoulder responsibility for "disgraceful conditions" in the Internal Revenue bureau.

President Truman promptly came to Snyder's defense.

What Williams would like, the President said, would be to have all the internal revenue collectors fired so he could get Republicans into their jobs.

The 64 collectors are now politically appointed. The President has proposed a reorganization under which the number would be reduced to a maximum of 25 and they would be placed under civil service.

Williams, in a Senate speech, made the strongest attack thus far on Snyder as a result of the tax scandals uncovered in congressional investigations. The Internal Revenue bureau, which handles government tax collections, is a part of the Treasury department and thus under Snyder's overall supervision.

Snyder himself said he was glad that Senator Williams had endorsed the reorganization plan, approved by the House and now under consideration in the Senate.

Partial Eclipse Of Moon Sunday

Washington (AP)—A partial eclipse of the moon will occur Sunday night and be visible in the eastern part of the United States, the Naval observatory announced yesterday.

Only nine per cent of the moon's diameter will be darkened. The eclipse will start at 7:03 p. m. and be over at 8:15 p. m.

Urges A-Bomb Use

Washington (AP)—Rep. Brooks (D-La.) introduced a resolution yesterday calling on Congress to recommend to the President that the atomic bomb be used to end the war in Korea if armistice negotiations fail.

THE EAST STROUDSBURG High school band presented its annual Winter concert last night in the junior high school auditorium. Under the direction of its founder Clement Wiedinmyer the band played to a large and enthusiastic audience.

East Borough School Band Plays To Large Audience

From the opening thrust of Ferrar's "Bombasto" march to the final strident tones of John Phillip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" the East Stroudsburg High school band rocked the junior high auditorium last night with a demonstration of the polish which has made it a five-time winner in the annual State Contest.

Under the direction of Clement Wiedinmyer, who founded the band in 1935 and has guided its destiny since, the east borough concert band treated a wide variety of musical subjects during the course of its performance.

The first portion of the concert consisted of a medley of tunes from Broadway productions for which Lorenz Hart and Richard Rodgers provided the words and music.

Wiedinmyer then turned to the traditional "Irish Tune From County Derry" (Danny Boy) and the modern "Atlantic Zephyr," the latter featuring a baritone horn solo by Lowell Fellman.

Student Director John Eaton conducted the orchestra in the excerpted "Finale from Symphony in F Minor No. 4" by Peter Tschai-kowsky, the only romantic classic in the program.

"The Southerner," a march tune and Ernesto Lecuona's familiar "Malaguena" from the "Andalusia Suite" completed the first half of the concert.

A medley of songs from the first World War served as the point of departure for the second portion of last night's "Winter concert."

These included "Goodbye, Broadway, Hello France," "K-K-K-Katy," "Where Do We Go From Here?" and George M. Cohan's World War theme—"Over There." Edward Kettleby's "In the Mystic Land of Egypt" introduced an oriental theme into the program, followed by Leroy Anderson's 1950 favorite—"Sleigh Ride."

With representative tunes from the Great White Way and the County Derry occupying positions on the first part of the program, the band made a nod toward the American cowpoke with a plaintive orchestration of Bob Nolan's "Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

Sigmund Romberg's overture to the operetta "The Student Prince" and Sousa's "Nobles of the Mystic Shrine" presented colorful introductory and follow-up material, respectively, to Harold Walter's musical impression of New York City at night—"Night Beat."

The concert was brought to a

The club renewed its membership in Monroe County Sportsman's Federation. Henry Schumann, former president of the club, was elected delegate and William Post, alternate.

Game stocking committee reported 15 crates of rabbits had been released on club lands under a system designed to provide equitable distribution of the game. Plans for further stocking were adopted.

A shooting match will be held on the club range at Tannersville as soon as weather permits.

Too Fat For Them

The housewife again has demonstrated her ability to get them all jumping when she sets her mind to something.

Retail meat dealers in several states have reported housewives won't buy pork loins with a lot of fat on them. So the dealers have had to slice off fat they paid for when they bought the loins from meat packers.

Naturally, the dealers are complaining. And now the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) is going to court in their behalf. Seems there's a regulation which requires that pork loin fat be trimmed to a half-inch. The OPS says some packers are selling loins with 1½ to 2½ inches of fat.

The packers, meanwhile, claim they can't help it. They argue that nature puts the fat on a hog and doesn't bother to distribute it evenly. They say they're trying to go along with OPS but they want someone to show them how to do what nature can't.

Dealers, packers, OPS, the courts—and even nature—had better get this one straightened out. For when the housewife concludes that pork loins are too fat for her, the decision has been made. Only thing to do then is to adjust to the decision.

Somebody Has To Pay

One of the fancy theories, in too many quarters, is that something can be had for nothing. It is a theory popular even among some so-called economic experts.

But economics is nothing more than arithmetic. There are only four quarts in a gallon. Money spent on frivolity won't buy groceries.

The CIO Steel Workers, in pleading for a "substantial" wage increase plus "fringe" benefits, hold that the steel industry can raise wages without increasing prices.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corp., said that can be done.

But the money for the wage raises must come from somewhere. If it doesn't come from the public, by way of a price rise, it must come out of profits.

And if it comes out of profits, who pays? The same people who would pay the price rise—the public.

The government collects about two-fifths of its revenue from taxes on the net earnings of corporations. If the net earnings are radically reduced, the tax payments are radically reduced. And the government must get its revenue from somebody else.

Mr. Fairless says that if the wage pattern proposed by the Steel Workers were applied to all American industry—and the wages taken out of profits—the government would lose $11 billions in tax income it would have to get somewhere else.

Mr. Fairless is using simple arithmetic. In economics, there are no drinks on the house. Somebody, somehow, has to pay.

The Black List

Certain commentators, actors, directors and writers are finding it extremely difficult to get employment in the movies, radio and television.

Employers find that their presence on any picture or program encounters excessive sales resistance and that therefore any product with which they are associated is defective from a business standpoint.

This is altogether true of two categories: those who have been exposed as Communist Party members at hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and those who have taken advantage of the Fifth Amendment to refuse to answer questions. While the Fifth Amendment is one of our greatest rights, namely, that a person may not be required to incriminate himself, public opinion accepts such a plea as equivalent to admitting guilt.

Another group, curiously, that finds it difficult to get employment in the motion picture industry are those who since 1947 have been testifying before Congressional committees. The so-called statesmen of that industry apparently take the position that those who disclosed the Communists have embarrassed them and should be punished. Many of them are actually unemployed.

The Authors' League, which is sort of writers' trade union, has addressed a letter to Wayne Coy, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, protesting the Black List. This document is signed by Rex Stout, as president, and announces a committee consisting of himself as chairman, Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, John Hersey and Elmer Rice, which, while it opposes blacklisting, takes no position on Communism.

The heart of the document is: "We know, of course, that your attention has been repeatedly called to the denial of employment by radio and television producers to individuals because of their alleged political affiliations or beliefs. We are aware that the FCC has no power to control the employment policies of sponsors of radio and television programs. But we are also aware that the FCC does have power to regulate licenses, whose conduct does not serve the public interest. The practice of blacklisting has spread to such an alarming extent that it has gone far beyond isolated acts by specific individuals and has assumed the proportions of what may properly be characterized as an industry policy, which involves not only sponsors and producers but networks and individual station licensees, and thus brings the matter clearly within the jurisdiction of the FCC."

Several questions have to be asked here:

1. Do these gentlemen want the FCC to refuse licenses to stations that reject Communists?

2. Does not that put a Communist in a privileged position, namely, that whereas a Republican or a Democrat may be refused employment, a Communist must be given employment if he says that he is a Communist?

3. Must a sponsor accept a Communist as a writer, director or actor even if the public clearly indicates that it will not use the product?

4. Has the FCC any right, under the legislation bringing it into existence, to intervene in such a matter at all?

One of the issues not raised in this letter is "Counterattack" and "Red Channels"—publications which compile data on the activities of Communists. A good share of their data comes from reports of Congressional and legislative committees and testimony in the courts.

The position generally taken by those who oppose blacklisting is that the movie, radio and television industry should ignore "Counterattack" and "Red Channels."

Experience shows that the public will not ignore these publications or the data which they contain, however published. Simply stated, the exhibitors dare not disregard this issue.

This is a vexed problem which cannot be lightly treated. Freedom of thought and freedom of speech are among our greatest heritages. It would damage our country if a goose-step literature were all that is available to us. Men should be able to write and speak without fear, and certainly without the fear of unemployment.

On the other hand, Communists have been established in our courts and before Congressional committees as disciplined agents of a foreign government, now our enemy. To Rex Stout, I put this question:

Have you ever protected a Nazi or a Fascist in his rights of freedom of expression as you now seek, in this letter, to protect Communists?

It would seem that that alone is the test of sincerity.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—The testimony of Matthew Cvetie, Communist undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, should be required reading for all student editors and reporters of the Daily Californian.

This campus newspaper, published by students at the University of California, has been successfully wooed by the Labor Youth League, to the disgust of University officials and the Board of Regents.

The Labor Youth League is the youth arm of the Communist party, financed, directed and nurtured by domestic Reds on orders from Moscow. It is active on the University of California campus. It has 461 members in the Los Angeles chapter, of whom 96 are college students and 61 are high school students.

In Cvetie's testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which Daily Californian editors can obtain free for the asking, the following colloquy took place between the undercover agent and Frank Tavenner, committee counsel:

"Mr. Tavenner: Are you familiar with an organization called Labor Youth League?"

"Mr. Cvetie: Yes, I am."

"Mr. Tavenner: Is this a national organization of the Communist party?"

"Mr. Cvetie: Yes, it is."

Cvetie worked for seven years behind the Communist party's iron curtain. He advanced into the party's hierarchy before he was unmasked in the trial of the 11 Communist party leaders in New York.

His voluminous reports to the FBI on party functions were of great value to the nation's security.

Countless times in public sessions members of the Un-American activities committee have noted Communist efforts to infiltrate university campuses. Yet there is no indication to date that student editors of the Daily Californian reported these pertinent facts of life in the U. S. A. today.

As noted herein before, the LYL distributes its treasonable literature on the University of California campus. In a recent blurb it accused American troops in Korea of torturing, burning and burying alive Korean civilians. Yet the Daily Californian describes the LYL as an "off-campus political organization."

In view of this, for the further education of the campus Daily's editors and reporters herewith is more Cvetie testimony:

"Mr. Tavenner: Is this organization completely controlled by the Communist party, to your knowledge?"

"Mr. Cvetie: Yes. This organization is completely controlled by the Communist party. It was set up by the Communist party for the purpose of activating the youth and to carry the Communist party line into youth organizations, into the colleges, into the schools and into the steel mills."

Cvetie and other undercover FBI agents inside the Communist party consider the LYL completely dangerous to the nation's security. LYL members do considerably more than lounge around in stacks on college campuses. Cvetie testified that a Communist named William Gordon sent 50 LYL members into the coal fields to stir up discontent and recruit party members. The order dispatching the 50 was issued from Communist party headquarters in New York.

"The LYL was pretty well cased in by Cvetie and others, but the big break that exposed the organization publicly resulted from an automobile accident near Pittsburgh. Several Communist party functionaries, including Steve Nelson, recently convicted on 11 counts of sedition in Pennsylvania, wrecked an automobile that contained hundreds of documents on the LYL, including a membership list. State troopers turned the list over to the FBI and the House Committee on Un-American Activities. The most revealing disclosure was the high regard for the LYL by Communist leaders in the U. S. A. and Moscow. It's a big league Communist outfit and therefore does not belong on college campuses or in our high schools."

The LYL also collects money from University of California and other college students, most of which is dispatched to Communist party headquarters in New York. I have the figures on the LYL quota set up for the Los Angeles area. It was $6,000 for 1949. Of this sum, the national LYL office quota was $2,400. By 1950 the LYL had raised $1,418, of which $567 was mailed to Communist headquarters in New York.

It is apparent that the Daily Californian, and probably numerous other campus publications, need a little guiding from wiser heads. The university officials and board of regent members are reluctant to step in, but somebody has to do it. As a starter, perhaps, the Daily Californian might invite the LYL to stay off the campus. That would have nothing to do with press freedom. Treason never does.

A Day With The King
On June 10, 1939, I had the privilege of driving in New York City's official car with King George and his Queen. Covering their arrival, as they stepped from the President's yacht at the Battery, 40 minutes later, I had my own newspaper car. But the cops were told to hurry the cavalcade and a row of uniformed backs was formed between me and my auto, which was waved along. I broke through and tried to chase it, but with no luck. . . . Mayor LaGuardia, who sat with Gov. Lehman in the official car, saw me. He motioned me to get in and sit beside the chauffeur on the drive to a luncheon at the World's Fair.

As we sped up the West Side speedway, I saw that the Queen was getting nervous. We were doing 55 an hour. She was not accustomed to such speed. I called LaGuardia's attention to it. He asked her and she said yes, she would appreciate it if he could arrange to slow down a trifle. He signaled a motorcycle policeman, who raced to the head of the procession and set the pace at 35 miles.

Here are some excerpts from report that night of the event and my impressions of an Emperor and his Empress:

They wowed the Big Burg—Their Majesties did. Perhaps never before had New York let loose at one time such a composite demonstration of its theatricalism, efficiency, rancousness, hospitality, curiosity and spontaneity. . . . The town was out, in millions, to see the King and Queen. That was it. New York was seeing them. They didn't see much of New York.

At the Battery, where these two living dolls, symbols of the mighty coalition of peoples upon whom the sun never sets, first set foot on the city which might have been the brightest star in their diadems, there were mobilized metropolitan police—uniformed, plainclothes, mechanized and the full department cavalry; soldiers, sailors, marines, secret service; above roared airplanes and the harbor was alive with whistling craft, official, semi-official, entirely unofficial—liners, tramps, ferryboats, speeder and picnic tubs.

Then, out of the darkness of the dock building, walked forth two people. . . . There was no outburst. The 21-gun salute had ceased. The band had stopped. The multitude was a woman, walked down the 300-foot stretch of red carpet between gilt stanchions. . . . So—THESE were Their Majesties!

A blondish, tall, tired-looking man in formal morning togs and carrying a gray topcoat; and a cute, cuddly, homey-looking girl in an ice-blue ensemble that looked neat and becoming, but wouldn't have rated a second glance in a Broadway lobby. The man bowed stiffly; the girl beamed warmly. . . . That smile let loose the works.

The King looked up and around. Across the square, limp in the breezeless calm, hung the flags of many nations from the ascending strata of the catacombs that house many foreign consulates—the Jack—and over all, predominating, red, white and blue hunting and the Stars and Stripes. . . . His Majesty had little time to look about. A policeman had handed the Queen a bouquet, and to her everlasting astonishment the Queen had given her a hearty handclasp; a benedicted Somebody bowed and

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

How long have you lived in your present home? Have you thought of making a change some time in the near future? Have you with covetous eyes—looked at those new ranch houses with their streamlined kitchens, tiled bathrooms, radiant heat and fancy plumbing.

If you have, any plans of moving you are no exception. The U. S. Census Bureau has just published the latest figures which seem to indicate that the average American still lives in covered wagons, although they are called moving vans nowadays.

Twenty-eight million people a year moved in the 1948-50 period, or if you don't like to think in millions, about one in every five people in our country moved from one place to another.

In the last ten years approximately 70 million people moved and settled in different parts of the country than where they had formerly resided.

These figures do not include members of the armed forces. They merely cover civilians who moved for one reason or other—primarily because of transfers to other locations, to change or find jobs, and because they just wanted to move.

The median income of the "migrant males," as the Census Bureau calls them, was $1,850 a year. The median income of those who stayed put was about one-fourth higher. And a larger proportion of the unemployed moved than those with jobs—and apparently they also moved as far away as they could get.

Apparently their idea was that "far pastures are greener." The Institute of Life Insurance, in commenting on these figures, makes this comment: "The restlessness and drive of the early settlers on the Atlantic seaboard opened up the country and laid the foundations for its subsequent growth and prosperity. Their descendants today are going on with the job of building America by constantly trying to better themselves and taking advantage of the abundance of opportunities in our free and progressive economy."

That sounds good in these days when we hear so much about socialization, the doing away with free enterprise and the disappearance of all individual opportunity, doesn't it?

The Institute goes on to say: "As is to be expected, mobility is much more a characteristic of youth than it is of the older age."

Thank God for that mobility! Thank God for the fact that our young people still go looking for new homes, new opportunities, new jobs, new fields to conquer.

There is too much IMMOBILITY among our so-called statesmen. One of these days I am going to send out a questionnaire to all our orators and pessimistic politicians.

I am going to ask them how many of them have arthritis, rheumatism, gout, heart trouble and all the other ailments which make it impossible for them to move—except with their mouths. Youth moves with its brains and its legs. Old age—or those having its symptoms—move only with the mouth and the stomach,

For nearly three years he has been associate producer for Cecil B. DeMille, who brought him over from England in '33 to star with Colbert in "Anthony and Cleopatra."

As such he is tough, 70-year-old DeMille's right-hand man. He helped write C. B.'s monumental circus epic, "The Greatest Show on Earth." He was in on costume design, set design, casting and production sketching—though DeMille, who welcomes criticism, always has the last say. At the last minute, on location in Florida, Wilcoxon played a small but important part of an FBI man who arrests clown Jimmy Stewart.

Earlier, Henry flew 95,000 miles in eight months carrying the word about DeMille's "Samson and Delilah." He spoke in schools and women's clubs, offering booklets of Biblical research and—incidentally—mentioning how fine a picture "Samson" was.

"Obviously one can't go on forever playing leading parts," Henry says. "I've always wanted to direct and produce. I thought, 'What better man could I become

Zoning Ordinance Approved

Referred To Coolbaugh Supervisors

Tobyhanna—Coolbaugh Township's Zoning Commission last night approved a general zoning ordinance and submitted it to the board of supervisors of the township for formal action by that body. There was no protest filed against the proposed ordinance.

The commission acted after a public hearing at Coolbaugh Township High school where citizens heard the ordinance read. They followed the contents on copies distributed for their study. Citizens were granted time to ask questions or call for explanations concerning the zoning ordinance.

Harold Kresge, member of the commission, presided at the meeting during the absence of Ed Bigger, chairman. Mr. Bigger arrived in time to preside at the commission meeting which approved the ordinance and submitted it to supervisors.

Clifton E. Rodgers, planning consultant, read the zoning document and explained all its features. He noted that zoning is designed to provide an orderly growth for a community, dealing chiefly with land use.

Experience has shown, Mr. Rodgers emphasized, that zoning communities protect the investment of the individual in his home and property values are enhanced.

While Tobyhanna community would be within the zone area, the law laid on which the "New Town" development project is proposed would be most affected by the zoning law.

The portions of Coolbaugh township to be zoned will be referred to in the ordinance. The ordinance will not affect the entire township. A map will be made showing the zoned areas.

Attorney George T. Robinson, solicitor to the commission and supervisors, clarified various legal points in connection with the ordinance and the law under which the commission and the supervisors operate to establish zoning.

The gist of the regulations and restrictions involved in the ordinance follows:

Regulation and restricting the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards and other spaces, the density of population and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes; establishing districts for such purposes; providing for the appointment of a board of adjustment and their powers; providing for appeal; providing for the administration, amendment and enforcement of the law and penalties for violations.

Supervisors are expected to have an early meeting to deal with the zoning ordinance as well as subdivision regulations.

They met yesterday with representatives of the Philadelphia First Mortgage Co., John Galbreath, contractor and Mr. Rodgers to discuss the plans for getting the "New Town" development under way, including laying-out of streets, provision for utilities and actual home construction.

Zoning commission consists of Mr. Bigger, Mr. Kresge, John McHale, Lawrence Reitz and Berne Cramer. Supervisors Irvin Foster and John Neipert were in attendance.

Major Thomas E. Morrison, Patrick Greco, Mr. Blum of the Signal Depot and Capt. John Myers, Engineer Corps, resident engineer on the depot project attended as observers.

CITATION FOR community service was awarded to Jesse R. S. Flory yesterday at Rotary Club in recognition of outstanding achievement in service to the human needs of the community as president of Community Chest for two years. Club Officers Nominated Officers were nominated yesterday by members of Stroudsburg Rotary Club. An election will be held next week.

Hanford Cleveland, chairman of the nominations committee, submitted this slate:

Jess Haynes, president; Jesse R. S. Flory and Earl Groner, first and second vice presidents; William R. Toewe, secretary; John R. Wilson, treasurer.

Nominated as directors were Gerald Anderson, who is now president; Roy M. Houser and Claude Leister.

Members may make additional nominations before proceeding to an election next week.

RD 2 Man Found Dead

Warren Koehler, 63, was found dead yesterday on the farm where he lived, a few miles west of Stroudsburg on Route 209 near Shafer's schoolhouse.

The body was discovered about 5:15 p. m. when Marlin Serfass, operator of the farm, and a helper, Charles Engle, 23, entered the barn to feed and milk the cows.

Justice of the Peace William N. Walton, acting coroner, said the two men found the body suspended by a rope from one of the overhead beams near the cow stalls.

"Suffocation" was the immediate cause of the suicide death, according to acting coroner.

Koehler was last seen, Stroudsburg State police were told, by Mrs. Serfass after dinner—about 12:45 p. m.

Mrs. Serfass told police that Koehler had been a patient at Allentown hospital for two years, was discharged last October. She said he had complained recently of pains in the shoulders, arms and legs, but had not appeared despondent over his health.

Justice Walton said Koehler had appeared at his office in Stroudsburg about a week ago to apply for a driver's license.

The former painter and paper-hanger had been living on the farm with his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Kresge, since his release from the hospital. Serfass is Mrs. Kresge's son-in-law.

Mr. Koehler was born at Saylorburg RD, had spent most of his life in Monroe county.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at Kresge funeral home, Brodheads, with Rev. J. Russell Cairns, Stroudsburg, officiating. Burial will be at Brodheads cemetery.

Friends may pay respects at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. tomorrow.

Surviving, in addition to Mrs. Kresge, are five sons, Floyd, Ralph and Glenn, of Saylorburg, and Kenneth and Nevin, Baltimore, Md.; four daughters, Vivian, Mary, Elaine and Catherine, all of Baltimore; two other sisters, Mrs. Louella Berger, Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Stella Reed, Scotia; and 16 grandchildren.

Stolen Car Found Abandoned; Had Been Driven 250 Miles

Hikers found a stolen car abandoned in a quarry off the Long Woods road yesterday.

The $1,900 sedan was stolen Sunday night from the Calso service station, N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg. Also taken was a cash register and a quantity of cigars and candy.

The car was found undamaged with a carton of cigars inside and a few cigars. The cash register was gone.

The hikers who spotted the car were Robert Frankenhoff, 26, of 13 Morningside Ave., and his friend Noah Paschon, Foxtown Hill, both of Stroudsburg.

The two had noticed the car parked within the steep-walled dry quarry as they walked through the woods. Both returned home without recalling the recent theft.

At the Paschon residence, however, the stolen car story was remembered and State police were notified.

Frankenhoff also called the car's owner, Verdon Edinger, who lives near the Calso station.

Pfc. Peter Sabinsky and Pfc. Emil Weber went after the vehicle, brought it back. Edinger estimated from the mileage on the speedometer that the thieves had driven the car about 250 miles before abandoning it.

Edinger had garaged his car on the washrack of the service station. He discovered the theft shortly after.

Stroudsburg police are investigating the theft.

Bank Held Liable For Paying Check

Scranton (AP) — Common Pleas Judge M. J. Eagen has established legal precedent in ruling that a bank is liable if it pays a check that a depositor had asked be stopped.

The decision, if upheld by higher courts, may change banking procedure throughout Pennsylvania on "stopped" payment checks.

Specifically, Judge Eagen said in his ruling that a bank depositor who draws a check upon his account retains the right to halt payment at any time before the check is paid.

The jurist said that "a purported release holding the bank blameless even though it fails to exercise reasonable care and pays the check through its own negligence is against public policy and therefore void."

Banks generally had depositors sign releases which would absolve the bank of all responsibility even though he orders the payment stopped.

The court decision came in a suit filed against the First National Bank of Scranton by Dr. E. J. Thomas, a Scranton dentist. Judge Eagen ordered the bank to pay Dr. Thomas $1,225 with interest from Oct. 16, 1950.

It was this check of $1,225 that Dr. Thomas asked the bank not to honor. It had been issued to a dental supply firm.

Judge Eagen said, however, the check was honored by employees of the bank through "inadvertence, accident or oversight."

Young People To Participate In Retreat

This afternoon at 4:30 some sixteen young people of the First Presbyterian church in Stroudsburg will leave for a one-day retreat at Kirkridge. They will be accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Ernest T. Campbell and Rev. Starnett Dransfield, pastor of the Old Greenich Presbyterian church near Stewartville, N. J.

Mr. Dransfield is to be the retreat leader. The theme of the retreat is "The Place of Prayer in the Christian Life." As background reading each retreatant has been asked to read two chapters in Douglas Steere's book "Prayer and Worship."

During this 24-hour time of spiritual refreshment there will be serious study and self-examination balanced off by times of fellowship, outdoor work, and a two-hour hike. Kirkridge has gained national fame in recent years as a retreat center.

Mott Names Chairmen Of Committees

Shawnee-on-Delaware — The monthly meeting of the Shawnee Fire Co. was held in Worthington hall on Tuesday night.

Charles Mott, the new president, presided over the business meeting and appointed the committee chairmen for the year as follows: entertainment, Marcus Decker; refreshments, Charles Balmoos Jr.; finance, William Gorman, and publicity, Parke Unangst.

The members decided to divide up the territory and send representatives to each section, following up the letters sent last fall asking for donations to the fire company from each family in the district, as many have not been answered.

Plans were commenced to have the hall open one night a week for the recreation of the young people of the community, to be chaperoned in turn by members of the fire company assisted by the Ladies auxiliary.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Dog License Enforcement Officer Here

Edward L. Banks, dog law enforcement officer, began his annual check of records at the office of County Treasurer P. A. Rockefeller yesterday on dog licenses, preparatory to instituting prosecution against owners of unlicensed dogs.

The 1952 dog licenses were due on Jan. 15. Banks' check showed that hundreds of dog owners all over the county have failed to obtain licenses.

His next step will be to schedule spot checks and bring about prosecutions against all owners of unlicensed dogs.

School Costs Up At Least $20,000 During Each Of Last Two Years

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on the rise in operating costs for schools in the borough of Stroudsburg from 1939 to the present day.)

By Leonard Randolph
Stroudsburg school directors noted a rise in school operating costs in excess of $20,000 for each of the past two years.

During the year between the 1949 and the 1950 school years, the borough budget rose from $262,236.50 to $291,591.65. For the 1950-51 school year, borough school directors levied a property tax of 29 mills on the borough's assessed value of $4,308,315.

This property tax accounted for a $124,941.13 share of the total budget.

The per capita tax, which had been elevated during the previous year from $5 to $10 per tax-paying resident, brought in $35,000.

Taxes took care of $159,941.13 worth of the budget.

State funds again paid a heavy load of the budget. The Commonwealth appropriation during that school year amounted to $89,793.94—nearly one-third of the Stroudsburg budget.

Non-resident tuition fees also brought in more money. For 1950-51, outlying districts paid $38,640 for the privilege of sending their students to the borough's consolidated school.

Miscellaneous income accounted for the remaining $5,216.58 of the school budget.

Between 1950 and the 1951-52 school year, school costs continued to rise. The budget for the latter year was set at $312,299.62 by Stroudsburg school directors.

Of this total they collected $143,722.92 in property taxes. The millage rate, meanwhile, raised to 33 mills per thousand dollars of assessed property. Unlike fourth class districts the two Stroudsburg boroughs, which are third class because of their advanced population figures, may raise beyond the 35 "legal limit" which is in effect for township and smaller schools.

The ten-dollar per capita tax accounted for $40,000 of the 1951-52 school budget, making a total income from taxation of $183,722.92 for the year.

Of the remainder, $85,776 came from State appropriations; $42,000 from non-resident tuition and $3,300 from miscellaneous income.

Since 1939 the Stroudsburg budget has risen $163,368.90. Property taxes have increased $31,715.29. Per capita taxation jumped upward $27,365 during the same period.

Percentage-wise, however, the largest increase in Stroudsburg's revenue has come from State funds.

The property tax, in 1939, was $92,007.63. For the 1950-51 school year, it was $143,722.92—an increase of approximately 56 per cent over the 12-year period. Per capita taxes had increased $27,365 in the same period—from $12,735 in 1939 to $40,000 in 1951-52—more than doubled.

During the same period State appropriations had increased a whopping 289.89 per cent—from $22,000 in 1939 to $85,776.70.

Stroudsburg's budget increase for the 12 years was 109 per cent of the 1939 total. Of this total increase the following categories were primary causes: general control—up $3.4 per cent; instruction (including salaries)—up 136 per cent; fixed charges—up 277 per cent.

While school costs (and the general cost of living, including the purchase price of most properties) were rising to phenom-nal heights between 1939 and 1952 Stroudsburg assessments remained at a nearly static level. This paralysis of assessed valuation was even more flagrant in some townships in Monroe county.

An analysis of the borough assessments, however, reveals that an incredibly slight four per cent rise in assessed valuation occurred during these twelve years.

While no one argues that borough assessed valuation should keep actual pace with a rise in school costs or the general rise in the cost of living, the contrast

Per capita taxes had increased $27,365 in the same period—from $12,735 in 1939 to $40,000 in 1951-52—more than doubled.

During the same period State appropriations had increased a whopping 289.89 per cent—from $22,000 in 1939 to $85,776.70.

Stroudsburg's budget increase for the 12 years was 109 per cent of the 1939 total. Of this total increase the following categories were primary causes: general control—up $3.4 per cent; instruction (including salaries)—up 136 per cent; fixed charges—up 277 per cent.

While school costs (and the general cost of living, including the purchase price of most properties) were rising to phenom-nal heights between 1939 and 1952 Stroudsburg assessments remained at a nearly static level. This paralysis of assessed valuation was even more flagrant in some townships in Monroe county.

An analysis of the borough assessments, however, reveals that an incredibly slight four per cent rise in assessed valuation occurred during these twelve years.

While no one argues that borough assessed valuation should keep actual pace with a rise in school costs or the general rise in the cost of living, the contrast between the two percentage rises—109 per cent, budget and 4 per cent in valuation—cannot be ignored.

Garden Club Cited By Preserve

The Monroe County Garden club has received three special citations in the annual bulletin issued by the Bowman's Hill Wild Flower Preserve at Washington's Crossing, it was announced yesterday at the executive board meeting held at the YMCA.

It's Wild Flower Study group was cited as the inspiration for the organization of a similar group in Norristown; the study group and officers of the club and LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery were given a citation for their annual contribution of rare plants; and the club was credited with more material for the Pocono Laurel Trail which they sponsored.

Mrs. Robert A. Miller, president, presided at the meeting when plans were made for the February 21 meeting which will be a fashion show for gardeners "Garden Glamour" presented by Wyckoff's.

The arrangement chairmen, Mrs. Elwood Grant and Mrs. Frank Stackhouse announced a "Bottle Show" exhibit in which members are asked to enter small, large, unusual or beautiful bottles with ivy philodendron, Chinese evergreen or other suitable material in arrangements designed for mantle, shelf or wall. Forced azalea, blueberries and pussy willows in bottles may also be exhibited.

Mrs. John Lim was announced as chairman of the hostess committee. Mrs. Robert Kistler, of Stroudsburg, was elected a new member.

Horticultural announcements were made including the fact that now is the time to collect tent caterpillar egg nests which appear like shiny wads of chewing gum stick near the ends of branches; and that wild azalea and blueberry vines are now at a suitable stage for forcing.

Present for the meeting were: Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. David Shiffer, Mrs. C. D. Cramer, Mrs. Edgar Van Wy, Mrs. Russell E. Hamilton, Mrs. John Fisher, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Mrs. Roy Houser, Miss Fannie Swartzwelder, Mrs. Elmer Kiefer Jr., Mrs. Elwood Grant, and Mrs. William Hannas.

Senior Girls Study Home Nursing

East Stroudsburg High senior girl students are currently receiving instruction in practical home nursing from a representative of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Thomas Shoemith is conducting the classes in the High school gymnasium basement. All senior girl students are enrolled in the course.

The instruction has taken a simple and direct approach to the many problems confronting the "home" nurse.

During the three-week instruction period the novice nurses will be given practice "runs" on preventive measures to be taken in the event of illness and the physical problems accompanying the care of a bed patient.

Mrs. Shoemith is currently emphasizing the necessity of keeping the patient comfortable and isolated from the remaining members of the household in cases involving a contagious or infectious disease.

The east borough school's system of instructing all senior girls in the course is unique in the district. In most other schools the course is given as a part of home economics training which is not required subject matter.

Bushkill Club Plans Meeting

Bushkill—The Bushkill Garden club will hold its regular meeting on February 14, at the home of Mrs. G. Wells Van Campen.

A representative of LaBar's Rhododendron Nursery will be the guest speaker, discussing landscaping for both large and small gardens.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

All these little money-raising schemes—like paying five cents an inch for the size of your feet—and apron sales—and white elephant sales and such—seem to have been tried over and over again.

How about a new kind of a social, a "let's-trade-Problems" social. Oh nothing very serious, you understand, just some of those little annoying things that you think you could do very well without.

Like trading a bag of undarned socks for a basket of unironed clothes, maybe. Or you could transport my children wherever they have to go for one week and I'll hear your children's homework—up to but not including the eighth grade, please.

Or you could make slipcovers for your neighbors' furniture, and she could let all the hems out of your daughter's dresses.

Still trying to think of a problem I could exchange for a new one I heard yesterday. Seems this mother had just got her children weaned away from watching television on sunny afternoons, when she discovered a morning program that has tied her own housework up into knots. She can get away with it now—but what happens if the children stay home from school some morning.

Might trade her my time-wasting habit of just sitting watching the antics of the kitten and the dog and the birds in the bird-feeder.

Everitt Class Activities For Lent

A varied program by the A. F. Everitt class of St. John's Lutheran church school marked the monthly meeting on Wednesday night at the home of the Brodell sisters, 720-C Main St., when twenty-eight members were in attendance.

The opening devotions were conducted by Mrs. Carl Albertson, president and teacher of the class, with Miss Dorothy Goedoeke reading the scriptural foundation for the study period.

During the business session with Mrs. Albertson presiding and Mrs. John Dunkelberger served as secretary pro tem for Mrs. Ann Götter who is wintering in Florida. It was decided to contribute five dollars toward "The March of Dimes" appeal.

A full report was made by the committee in charge of the Christmas boxes which had been sent to the boys of St. John's in the service. Nine boxes were sent to boys overseas and sixteen to those in the States, for which the class receives many weekly notes of appreciation. The several organizations of the congregation assisted in this project. The class plans to send an Easter remembrance to each of the boys and families are urged to please register all changes of address at the church office.

Mrs. Fred Kinsley was named custodian of the candles, the class having assumed the purchase of all candles for the church as their special project for this year. Coin collectors were also distributed to members. The class welcomed Mrs. Travis, nee Alta Brodell of Dallas, Pa., a former member as a guest at the meeting.

President Albertson stressed the approach of Lent and asked that there be an all-out attendance for the World Day of Prayer to be held in the Episcopal church. She also urged attendance at all Lenten services.

The next meeting will be held on March 5 after the Lenten service, when there will be a business meeting only, dispensing with the usual social hour.

Following the business session a social hour was held with much merriment over foot-measuring, with each one paying five cents per inch. Quite a sum was realized. Six February birthday celebrants were honored and delicious refreshments were served from tables appointed in the Valentine motif by the committee comprising the Brodell sisters, A. F. Everitt and Miss Frances Everitt.

It's an important day in the life of a parent when a child has his hair cut for the first time. Ask Doug Gordon of Wyckoff's drapery department. He went through that experience yesterday, and an adorable high-stepping Stevie walked around the office, much to everyone's delight, looking for all the world like a little man now that his golden curls were gone.

It's an important day for Wyckoff's when a little fellow like Stevie comes in and runs around, for there will eventually be a day when all the Stevies and Susans grown tall will shop at a friendly store remembered happily from childhood. Such is the case with me . . . and with you, perhaps. And such was the case with an elderly gentleman who came in yesterday and told me he had just celebrated his 90th birthday. "I don't mind it a bit," he laughed. Naturally not . . . he's hale and hearty, happy in his memories and content with each day as he finds it.

"You know," he said, "I was one of the first customers this store ever had. Just a few days after it opened, my father brought me down from Swiftwater and we came in to look around. We bought a lot of things, I remember . . . all kinds of dry goods and a big bolt of muslin. It was different then," he reminisced . . . adding wryly, "but so was I."

Later in the day a very young lady coaxed for a ride on the horse which is a popular attraction in our infant's department. As I lifted her into the saddle and handed her the reins, she smiled in delight, and I knew that she'd return many times in the years ahead . . . not only to ride the pony, but to shop. She knows she is welcome here . . . and that the store is interested in her. I wouldn't be at all surprised if Wyckoff's plays a very important role in her life. Which is, after all, the way it should be!

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Proving that previous form doesn't mean a thing when arch rivals clash in athletics, East Stroudsburg State Teachers College came up with its best basketball game of the current campaign on Wednesday, before dropping a 67-59 verdict to West Chester, on the Normal Hill hardwood. Prior to Wednesday's clash the Rams had divided 10 outtings, while the Warriors were only able to win two of nine starts.

However, despite much the better of the two records, West Chester was hard pressed to fight off the determined bid of the Warriors, especially during the third period, when the home team pulled to within one-point of the Rams on two occasions. Even though they dropped their eighth verdict, the Warriors were in the game throughout, as some of the big boys demonstrated by far their best ability of the present campaign.

Bill Schmidt's nine-for-nine showing from the foul line and the vastly improved performance of Bill Coleman were two of the highlights as far as the charges of Coach Ed Shay are concerned. It was also encouraging to see the red and black contingent give its improved performance, because two of the first five just came off the sick list and a third out of the college infirmary with a head injury. Despite their weakened conditions each and everyone of the recovering cagers did all in their power to turn the tide of battle.

Frank "Whitey" Whitecavage, a member of Fell Township's class "B" state championship high school team in 1946, was one of the most disappointed members of the East Stroudsburg team at the conclusion of hostilities. The only trouble with Whitecavage's performance as far as this column is concerned is the fact that the likeable center had to oppose Art "Moose" Nazigan, who tallied 27 points and is one of the best basketball performers in the history of the sport at West Chester.

Ray Welsh, former ESSTC court mentor, made his first return to the school this year in the role of a spectator and received a royal welcome by all present in the small crowd. I really believe that the only disappointment this writer felt at Wednesday's game was the crowd itself—it was by far the smallest to see these two foes in action since I took over this job six winters ago. The crowds at the college this season have been alarmingly small at all paying sports.

It was truly refreshing to see the honesty of Jim Collier's call, as Bill Schmidt apparently scored on a desperate shot, just as the siren sounded for the end of the first half. However, Collier, an ESSTC student and official timer, ruled correctly when he said that Schmidt hadn't launched the ball into the air before the siren sounded. Actually Schmidt had just caught the pass when the siren began to sound, but due to the noise at that part of the game it was hard to tell whether or not the siren was whaling when the shot was launched. Honesty of this type at all basketball games would save everyone a lot of trouble.

A correction is on tap today. This column stated yesterday that Cataqua ran up 102 points against Northampton last Tuesday, when actually the Rough Riders took the measure of Stoughton, 102-43. Stoughton is the same club that Stroudsburg took the measure of recently, 61-46. However, the terrific challenge still confronts the Mountaineers, who play at Lehighton tonight. Denny Roth, strapping Lehighton performer, scored 34 points against Palmerton on Tuesday of this week.

Athletic relations between Coolbaugh and Barrett High schools, both members of the Monroe County League, hit an all-time high this week, when the two schools exchanged letters concerning Tuesday's rhu-rhu. Both coaches, Don Wismer, Coolbaugh, and Ed Kriner, Barrett, are to be congratulated for the manner in which they handled the issue. Coolbaugh acting in this manner can even avert near tragedy. Kriner, like Wismer, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, was present at the ESSTC-West Chester contest on Wednesday.

Phil Braun, former football and basketball star at ESSTC and now a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps, was also on hand to see the Warriors and Rams battle. Phil also played part of the 1951 baseball season with the Roseto entry in the Blue Mountain league. Mike Kowalechick, a former baseball player at ESSTC, is now an assistant football coach at West Scranton High. Fred Frender, top scorer in the state in football last season, also showed quite a bit of service with the West Chester basketball team the other night. Frender wore glasses during the first half, but discarded the cheaters in the third and fourth quarters.

East Stroudsburg, Stroudsburg Face Crucial Games

Cavaliers Home With Strong Parkland Foe

East Stroudsburg High faces the task of having to win to stay in the thick of the second-half Lehigh-Northampton League pennant dash tonight, when the Cavaliers play host to Parkland, on the N. Courtland St. hardwood. Both teams are currently tied with Heller-town for third place behind undefeated Wilson Borough and Coplay.

The junior varsity encounter will get underway at 6:45 p.m. and the main event at approximately 8:15.

East Stroudsburg has taken the measure of Nazareth and Bangor thus far in the second-half, but a setback at the hands of Heller-

Team	W	L	Pct.
Wilson Borough	3	0	1.000
Coplay	2	0	1.000
East Stroudsburg	2	1	.667
Hellertown	2	1	.667

Pen Argyl	1	2	.333
Fountain Hill	0	2	.000

Bangor	0	2	.000

town was sandwiched in between. Parkland is also currently gliding along with two wins and only one setback thus far in the second-half. Parkland's defeat was inflicted by Wilson Borough.

Coach Dick Forster is expected to stick with the same lineup that took the measure of Bangor in overtime on Tuesday, 77-76. This means that Jack Treddinick and John "Juice" Arns will open at the forward positions, while high scoring Ray Steele continues to operate at his usual center spot. The guard slots will be filled by Paul "Candy" Miller and Dick Newton.

If East Stroudsburg should take the measure of Parkland tonight and if Wilson Borough should edge Coplay, the Cavaliers would have a chance of vaulting into first place next Tuesday, when the Eastburg contingent plays host to the Wilson club coached by Ed Snyder.

The Cavaliers are reportedly in good physical condition and ready for the two very tough foes to be entertained on successive outings.

Joe Chase, Dick Transue, Dick Merring and Jim Fritz are substitutes almost certain to see action for the home team tonight.

Three Games In Wayne Loop

Newfoundland—Three games are scheduled in the Wayne County Basketball Conference tonight as the circuit swings into the final four weeks of play.

Top-dog Waymart, winner over Hawley, 61-37, Tuesday, will be shooting for win number 11 against the visiting Greene-Dreher-Sterling five. The Prezelskimen have suffered a lone setback; the Stags have won three and lost the same number.

Other Contests

In other games, Honesdale (7-2) entertains Pleasant Mount (4-3) and Northern Wayne (1-5) plays at Damascus (1-8).

The chances of stopping Waymart's sweep to a third consecutive WCC championship now appears almost impossible. The champs have a two-game lead over Honesdale with five games remaining, two against the Arnebergemen, one each with Moscow, Damascus and Northern Wayne, all well down the line in the rankings. Honesdale's path is much the same but there'll have to be some form-shaking upsets to overcome that two-game edge.

Tannersville Gains Ground With Nod Over Tobyhanna

Tannersville—Tannersville stretched its first place lead in the Pocono Mountains league to two full games over Tobyhanna last night with a comfortable 75-57 victory over the number two club here on the Pocono High school court.

Collegians, Y's Men Win Tussles

Collegians and Sherman Theater tangled in a Senior Y League basketball game here at the Monroe County YMCA last night, with the Collegians winning in overtime, 54-53, after Edwards accounted for all three of the winning points in the overtime session. Both teams were deadlocked at the end of regulation play.

Rally
The Collegians had to fight back in the second half to bring home the bacon, after trailing 30-26 at halftime.

George Metropoulos led the Y's Men to a 45-41 victory over White Haven in an exhibition game played as the second half of last night's doubleheader.

A fourth period spurt of 21 points enabled the Y's Men to pull the game out of the fire.

Cut Rate, Barber Shop Fives Triumph

Cramer's Cut Rate and Frank's Barber Shop were the big winners in the Senior High league at the Monroe County YMCA yesterday. The Cut Rate five won over the Pioneers, 44-23, while the Barber Shop quintet was too much for Diggs' Restaurant, 64-50.

The Pioneers managed to give the Cut Rate crew a battle for three periods, but Cramer's power won out in the final round, when the winning aggregation led the contest with a 22-4 edge in the scoring.

Early Lead

Action in the second contest found Frank's contingent piling up a huge lead in the first quarter and coasting to an easy 14-point victory, although the Biggs' crew held a 13-7 edge in the final round.

Tom Bonser, Barber Shop forward, accounted for 24 points to draw down top scoring honors for the day.

Groat Threatens Lovellette's Scoring Lead

New York (AP)—Dick Groat, Duke's basketball sparkplug, is making a determined effort to take over the major college individual scoring lead from Clyde Lovellette of Kansas.

Figures released yesterday by the NCAA service bureau disclosed the six-foot Blue Devil star is only one-tenth of a point behind the sky-scraping Lovellette, who has been out in front all season.

In games through February 2, Lovellette has an average of 25.7 per contest, while Groat has 25.6. Lovellette has scored 411 points in 16 games, Groat 486 in 19 outings. Groat's total is high for major teams this year. He holds the major-college record for points in a season—831.

Third Place

Bobby Pettit, the Louisiana State sophomore who has been runner-up to Lovellette all season, slipped to third place. His 25.5 points per game, however, still leaves him a distinct threat for the scoring honor.

Lovellette's average suffered last week when he was held to 18 points by Oklahoma A&M and 17 by Iowa State. It was the first time the Jayhawks ace had been held under 20 points all season. On the other hand, Groat had a big week as he jumped from sixth in the scoring to second. Dick racked up 27 points against North Carolina and 46 against George Washington.

West Virginia's Mark Workman, fourth on the scoring list with a 24.8 average, also got 46 points last week against VMI. The only better mark this season was the 50 points scored by Pettit against Georgia January 18.

Famous Football Star Dies After Long Illness

Washington, Pa. (AP)—Death put an end to the great Fats Henry's last fight yesterday but his football fame will live forever.

The athletic director-coach of Washington and Jefferson College where he gained renown as a grid lineman succumbed to diabetes at the age of 54.

His name was Wilbur Henry but most everybody knew him either as Fats or Pete. He caught a prolonged illness which dates back to 1948 when he had a leg amputated from the disease. But Fats never gave up and refused a forego a few hours each Saturday afternoon during his playing days. As a competitor, Henry was considered tough and ruthless.

A native of Mansfield, O., the big, shy 236-pound tackle made the W. and J. varsity team in his first game as a freshman. Henry is the only W. and J. graduate ever to win varsity letters in four sports—football, baseball, basketball and track.

Henry's great ability spurred W. and J. teams to victory from 1917 to 1919. In those days W. and J. was a football power.

Wildcats Trip Tigers, 14-12

East team suffered a scoreless quarter in the Ramsey School league yesterday, but the Wildcats were able to do the most damage in the remaining three rounds and scored a 14-12 victory over the Tigers.

Short End

The Tigers were unable to score in the first stanza and were on the short end of the score the remainder of the distance, even though the Wildcats failed to push a point into the cords during the third round.

However, the Wildcats had to actually win the game in the last period, during which they held a 4-3 edge over the Tigers.
